RE: Probation and academic resources information
Date: 12.28.16

You have been placed on academic probation. University of Minnesota students must maintain at least a 2.000 term and at least a 2.000 cumulative grade point average (GPA) to remain in good academic standing. Your fall 2016 term or cumulative GPA was less than 2.000.

Morris has many resources to help you raise your GPA and return to good academic standing. We expect you to take the following steps.

- Meet with your adviser to review your spring 2017 class schedule as soon as possible but no later than the last day to cancel and add classes, Monday, January 30, 2017.
  - Confirm that you successfully completed all prerequisites during fall semester for courses for which you registered for spring 2017. If not, drop those and select new courses.
  - You are highly encouraged to consider taking no more than 12-16 credits and no more than four courses during spring 2017. Review your spring 2017 courses with your adviser.

- If you make schedule changes, discuss financial implications with a One Stop Student Services counselor.

- A hold has been placed on your record that requires you to meet with your adviser following spring 2017 break to discuss fall 2017 courses. Your fall 2017 registration will be limited to 12–16 credits. Enroll in no more than four courses. Following the meeting, your adviser will “lift” the hold so that you can register.

- Explore the many Morris resources that help students return to and maintain good academic standing, and determine which resource(s) could assist you in your academic career: peer tutoring, study sessions, academic coaching, skills and/or time management workshops.

NOTE: After spring 2017 semester grades are posted, your term and cumulative GPA will again determine your academic status.

- If your term and cumulative GPA are both above 2.000, you return to good academic standing.

- If either your term or cumulative GPA is below 2.000, you will continue on probation.

- If both your term and cumulative GPA are below 2.000, you will be academically suspended.

Your adviser will be notified of your probation status. If you cannot reach your adviser or you are unsure where to start, contact the Office of Advising. If you have questions about probation, please contact me.
